Dedication

One day at an activities meeting a debate was raging. The minority leader had only one solid argument in his favor — eventually even that was challenged.

"I didn't read it anywhere," the student admitted meekly, "but Dr. Cutts told me."

The room fell silent. The point was won.

Elmer H. Cutts is best known to the University and the community as a scholar and a lecturer. At both he is unparalleled. Even in the field of human relations the quiet, mild-mannered teacher from Colorado excels.

After taking his undergraduate and master's degrees at the University of Washington, Dr. Cutts came East to earn his Ph.D. at Harvard University. He joined the Northeastern University Day College faculty in 1941, and following a two-year tour of duty with the Army in Europe, became head of the newly re-organized History-Government Department in 1947.

The author of various scholarly treatises on Indic civilization, Professor Cutts began work in 1951 on "World Civilization Before Christ", now partially published, but still incomplete. In this project he is being aided by his wife, Amelia, herself a Greek scholar.

Dr. Cutts has managed, in addition to his intellectual activities, to maintain the interest in sports that won him a letter in cross-country as an undergraduate at Washington University. Besides faculty bowling, he is an avid handball enthusiast, and started the Faculty Handball League here at Northeastern.

To this friend of students, to this inspiring teacher and scholar, to this athlete we dedicate the 1954 edition of the CAULDRON.

President's Message

To complete successfully the scholastic requirement of a college course is the attainment of an important goal for any person, but to enrich college life by participation in the various worth-while activities outside the classroom is to increase manyfold the satisfaction of achievement.

You may well be proud of the activities of your class, many of which are recorded in the pages of this CAULDRON. I am mindful of the fine spirit which the Class of 1954 has evidenced in all causes which the University has sponsored. The splendid support of the Library Building Fund is an example.

I am glad that you have been able to see and to enjoy the result of your endeavors while still in college; I am delighted that the Library became a part of your undergraduate days. This is not always true in life. Sometimes the goal is far beyond the horizon and we may never see the final results of our work.

You will discover as you go through life that your journey toward success is like climbing a mountain — each hill reveals a still higher peak ahead. But the satisfaction of reaching and overcoming each obstacle along the way is an inspiration and challenge to continue on to the higher peaks.

My sincere best wishes to each of you as you leave your Alma Mater. May your success in college be multiplied many times in the years ahead.

New England's Great Annual JANUARY
103rd SA
BIRT

THE school day at Northeastern began, for many of us, at Park Street — where we often felt like turning around and heading for home. After a "short" wait, we glided noiselessly through the tunnels to 360 Huntington Avenue and our college life.

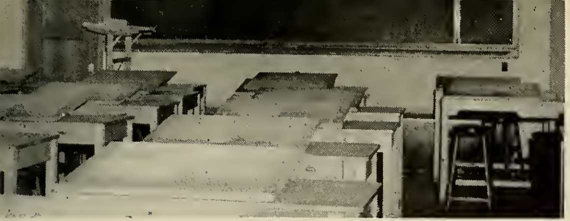
On the following pages we will remember some of those days.

Off the M.T.A. and into N.U. runs a steady stream of students. English, Physics, Marketing Research and Structural Analysis will be our concern, but not before . . .

MORNING

Commons coffee to get us off on the right foot. And when all good things come to an end, all too soon . . .

On to more serious work. And so we walk the corridors to that early bird class.

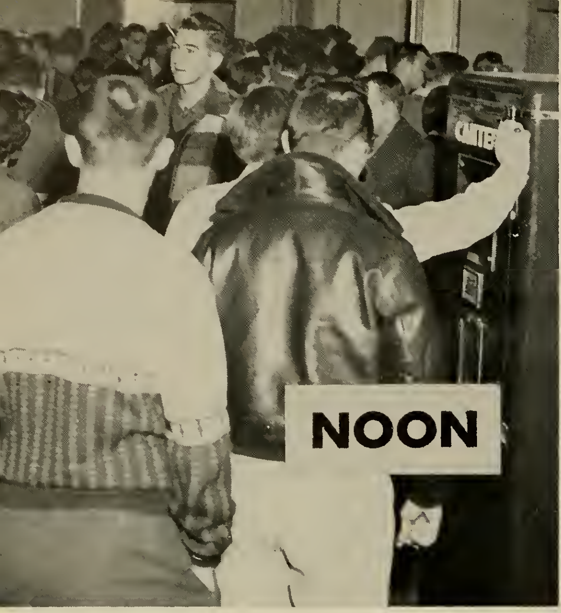


The empty classrooms that await us soon are filled with the business of learning . . .

Laboratory equipment is set in motion and the problem of the day is solved . . .

The reward for industry — the "break" between classes.

A quiet Library before the arrival of the noon crowd.



NOON

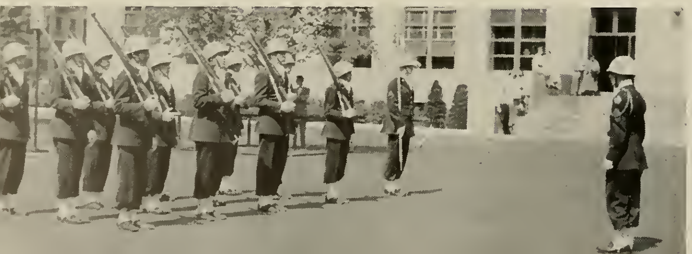
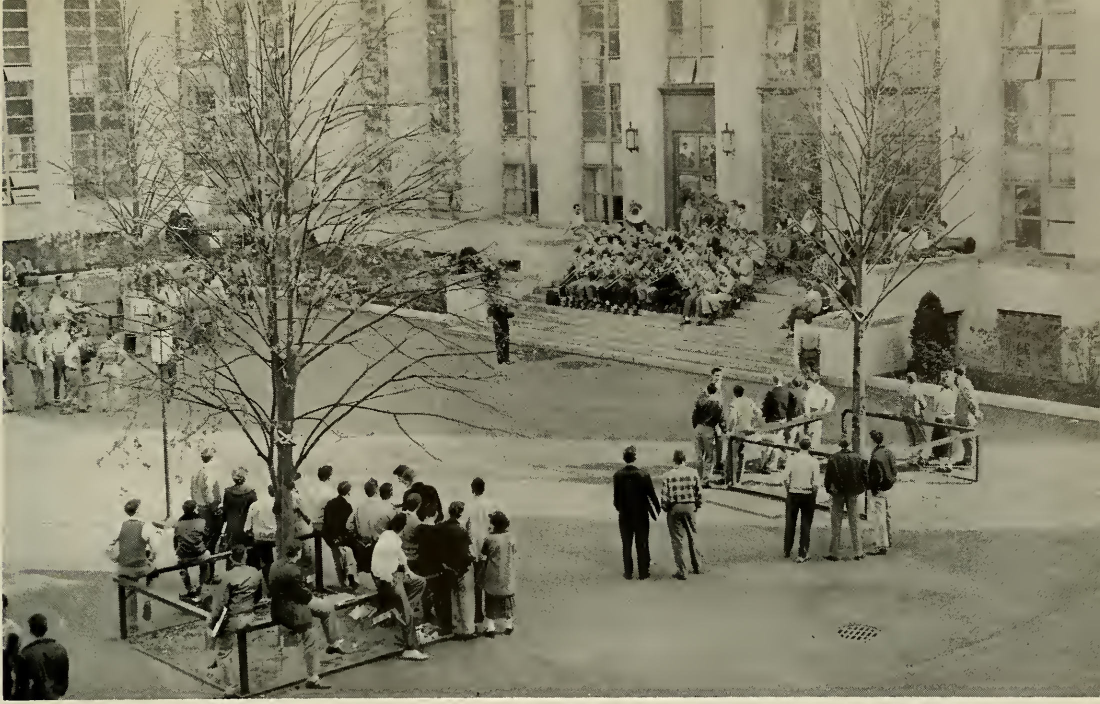
(Below) After lunch we have the chance to enjoy a little outdoor activity.



On occasion we witness a snappy drill by the Pershing Rifle Team.



Sometimes we see a noon concert (above), a ground breaking ceremony for a new gym (left), or the laying of a library cornerstone (below).

Some Chessmen like it cold, some Masquers like it hot . . .

Noontime is also the time for frat capers such as this "paddling" applied to a pledge.

India's political role in world affairs is discussed at an I.R.C. meeting by a native speaker.

Nothing like getting out in the sun — even though it means work.

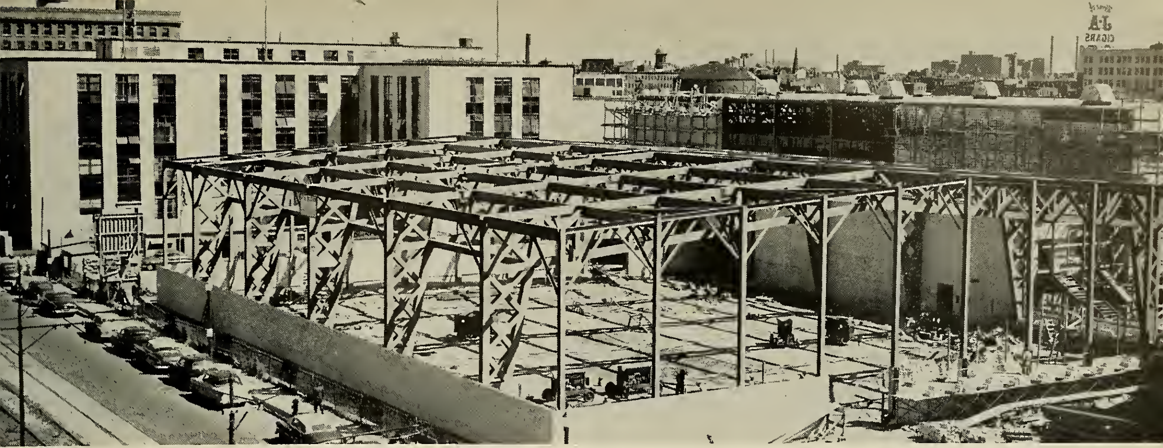
AFTERNOON

Some of us go to classes — forever.

The extremes of afternoon activity give us (above) the Annual Children's Christmas Party sponsored by Omega Sigma-Student Union and (left) a spring ball game.

There are the serious moments — laying of the cornerstone for the new gym.

(Left) There are the spectacular times — our soldier band backs the football team to victory. (Below) And there are leisure times — sailing on the Charles.



Afternoons we check on the progress of the new Gymnasium Building.

Class History

IT WAS September of 1949. The grass outside the buildings of Northeastern, the grass which later became asphalt, was suddenly stampeded by 1070 wild-eyed youngsters hungry for a little learning and a taste of college life. These were the freshmen.

Most of them were just out of high school and scarcely out of knickers and bobby sox. But some of them were purposeful young men here to study under the GI Bill. The frosh were greeted by their class adviser, Professor Joseph M. Golemme who welcomed them and wished them success during their stay at N.U. All blended into the great confusion of Registration Day. This was the largest freshman registration in the history of the University.

Later in the fall, Ed Goodstein, a cub reporter for the News, polled us frosh and discovered that we liked our professors and the Co-op system, although we had had little of one and none of the other.

And then, on the day after Columbus Day, two members of the class of '54 sailed over the undulating terrain of the Andover countryside faster than any other freshmen in history. These were, of course, Ed Shea and Charlie Johnson, who set a new Andover cross-country record for freshmen, thus giving our class its first real taste of prestige and fame.

N.U. CHORUS FORMED

While the high brass in Richards Hall headquarters put a stamp of approval on the plans for a Northeastern Library, a young Southern aristocrat with the mint julepy monicker of M. Tucker Keiser, suh, brought forth the N.U. Chorus, the first group of its kind at the University, in a sparkling rendition on the stage of Alumni Auditorium. That same stage was soon to support the cast of Arms and the Man, the Silver Masque's fall production.

As Freshmen, the N.U. campus looked like this — no Library and no asphalt . . .

For the first time, Northeastern co-eds had a home away from home, when the University established the first dormitory on Marlborough Street in the Back Bay. Soon after, the Boston Traffic Commission made Marlborough a one-way thoroughfare.

UNDEFEATED GRID SEASON

The N.U. football team was running up an impressive string of wins. The season's record was marred only with one tie, a 14-14 deadlock in the mud with Coast Guard. N.U. added to its girth with the acquisition of the adjacent Sylvania property in the winter of 1951.

On March 21, 1952, the Silver Masque presented The Third Estate, an original musical comedy written by Messrs Cerulli, MacLean, and Blume. Two months later, Don Gardiner copped the Middler election as Division B's choice for president.

Horace Greeley's advice was taken to heart by the University officials, when they made plans to blast out the West Parking Lot and erect a gymnasium.

LIBRARY COMPLETED

On September 24, Northeastern held coronation ceremonies. King Husky IV took on the crown, replacing the 13-year-old King Husky III who reigned as monarchial mascot for nearly 10 years.

October 9 was a landmark in the history of the University. The erection of a modern library was completed in a solemn ceremony at which Dr. Luther H. Evans, Librarian of Congress, made a stirring speech on the freedom of study and thought.

Also in October, the Silver Masque presented My Sister Eileen, marking Professor Eugene J. Blackman's debut as director of the group.

Ed Shea placed second in the New England Cross-Country meet. He was just starting to get warmed up. Lenny Dartt had a golden year by being named All-New England center and All-New England defenseman in football and hockey, respectively.

Prof. Golemme

Class adviser, Professor Joseph M. Golemme, with the ready smile and the helping hand . . .

On January 9, 1953 the Masque again made an appearance, this time in a courtroom drama entitled The Night of January 16th in which the audience decided the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

The Spring of 1953 brought the promise of a new University Gym with President Ell officiating over the cornerstone ceremonies in May. Division A students, returning from their co-op period, got off the MTA and found, not barren asphalt, but a Hollywood setting for the Garden of Eden. The University now had trees on the newly named quadrangle.

On March 20, 1953, Prof. Blackman and his group did it again. A professional rendition of Finian's Rainbow was given in Alumni Auditorium. The infamous Senator Billboard Rawkins was played infamously by Bob Mathieson.

LAW SCHOOL CLOSES

Potential lawmakers were told they couldn't get their degrees at Northeastern after 1956. After 55 years of operation the Law School would close. A new School of Education under the direction of Dr. Lester S. VanderWerf was taking its place.

On May 15, 1953 Don Gardiner, one of our most popular students, was elected Division B President.

Highlighting the social season of the Junior Year was the Junior prom. Our prom was the first in the university's history to feature the crowning of a queen, chosen from fifty candidates, as the most beautiful girl at the dance. The prom, a dinner-dance, was held in the Sheraton-Plaza and was one of the greatest successes in the annals of NU.

Then, with a blare of trumpets and a splash of khaki, units of the Engineering and the Signal Corps ROTC hit the campus. Some passersby on Huntington Avenue took one look, shuddered, and enlisted in the Navy.

As March came in like a lion, so did Tom Barrett to win the Middler Class Presidency by a slight edge in a hotly contested campaign. Two of our most popular co-eds were given awards signifying a high degree of scholarship and a tolerant, democratic spirit. Lee Colby received an award from the Academy, and Dolores Pereira won a Ford Award.

ZABILSKI HONORED

Also in May, Ruth Mallion became the second co-ed in the history of this young university to attain the high position of vice-president of the Student council.

Our senior year started off with a bang as Coach Joe Zabilski's boys nearly upset powerful Rhode Island when they were beaten in the first game of the year 13-7. The Huskies, however, shook off the disappointment and went on to win the rest of the games on their schedule to earn the number one small college rating. Recipient of the New England Coach of the year award, Joe Zabilski shrugged off any claim to honor and laid the praise to the skill and determination of such boys as Captain Jack Lapsley, Jean Champagne, and Bill Gochis. Later Lapsley became the first N.U. player to be drafted by the big league of football when he was picked by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

And then Ed Shea, the man who had brought our class to its first real fame, topped all his other achievements and won the New England Cross-country championship over America's fastest marathoner, Johnny Kelley of B.U.

MORE AWARDS

Four co-eds set a record as being the largest number of women in N.U.'s history to receive Sears B. Condit Awards. Awards went to Lee Marston Colby, Marilyn Arnstein, Elizabeth Bedrosian, and Janet Dwelley. Repeaters from the Junior year were Richard Sonego, David Arbens, John Maloney, Robert Thompson, Joseph Heffernan, Reginald Brown, and Robert Assengo.

And there were more awards. At the Dean's List Dinner of our senior year Ford Awards went to Don Gardiner, Jack Needle, and Virginia Landry.

And there were still more awards. Miss Arnstein was named Woman of the Year by Omega Sigma. And at the Alumni Convocation the Alumni Association awarded the Annual Alumni Awards to three high ranking seniors: Ed Goodstein, Don Gardiner and Allan Oram.

The Most Distinguished Character Award for 1954 goes to Don Kobrin for his journalistic capers. In one of his stories for the News, Don buried the Botolph Building. For this and such like, he is famous.

Voodoo was under fire during most of our five year stay at N.U. At one point Division A abolished Voodoo but reinstated it four months later. They missed it?

CLASS FUNCTIONS

Some of the times we've had!

The Freshman Dance at the Dorothy Quincy Suite of John Hancock was the kick-off to our five years of go — go — go.

Remember the Sophomore Dance at the Surrey Room of the Hotel Touraine?

At the beginning of the Middler year we had a Moonlight Sail on the Boston Belle. Bob Boggs, whose initiative and interest in our class is deeply felt, got things going for a very successful evening.

Some of us '54ers have scars left over from the Middler class picnic. Remember the sand flies? . . . And the smugg fires to get rid of them? They left after we did. Except for the scars, we have fond memories of our Wingearsheek Beach outing.

A big splashing Pre-Prom Rally on campus paved the way to the Middler Prom held at the Bradford Hotel.

And then we arrived at the Junior Dinner-Dance. This affair, our best and biggest up to Senior Week, was held at the Sheraton-Plaza. And the Queen and Court of the prom were given the biggest and most royal reception ever witnessed at an N.U. prom.

Senior Week is ahead of us at this writing. But, we can see ahead that it will be the most to say the least.

And it should be written that the Class of '54 is to be congratulated on its support of the Library Building Fund. The pledges from our class surpassed those of any other class.

That's '54 for you. And there's more.

Remember when Em Kimball went to the New Jersey State Reformatory for Women — to work, of course?

. . . when Robert Cutler of the University Corporation went to Washington with President Eisenhower?

. . . and how can we ever forget Don Kobrin or Lenny D'Orlando's stories in the News?

Remember when our hockey hero, Lenny Dartt, was labelled the "bad boy of college hockey" by Boston scribes?

. . . when we got a chance to grade the profs. back in '51?

. . . when Dean White became Vice-President White?

. . . when Luther Fulton fell into the Neponset River? He was flying a plane which developed engine trouble.

. . . when Omega Sigma sponsored a dance and the fellows wanted membership cards?

. . . and do you realize that if you are a suburban commutor you have traveled the MTA twice daily for five days a week for 130 weeks which equals 1300 rough rides?

All this and more is '54.

BETWEEN the daylight and the darkness, the Northeastern student hurries through a busy day. But, in that day, the student finds time to intermingle many activities with the classroom schedule.

The Student Center Building, the site of the majority of the activities hums with the constant drone of people working and talking from the beginning of the day far into the night.

The Masque rehearses in the Auditorium, the NEWS and the CAULDRON staffs labor on the third floor, music from the band and the orchestra haunts the corridors, in the background the balanced voices of the Choir rise and fall, and vacant classrooms are utilized as meeting halls for various clubs.

As night falls over the clustered buildings, the slow and scattered exodus of students takes place. One by one the buildings are deserted as the activities disband for the day. Then, late in the evening, a last solitary light goes out, and the Northeastern day is over.

The NEWS

THE Northeastern News bears 28 offspring in a normal year. Almost every Friday morning of each term, an issue of the News disseminates information to the student body and faculty.

Ed Goodstein

Editors on the weekly paper receive their positions at annual elections. All start as staffers who, through hard work and interest, are advanced. The most demanding extra-curricular activity on campus, the News takes up 20 hours a week for most members of the Editorial Board — and sometimes 40 hours a week.

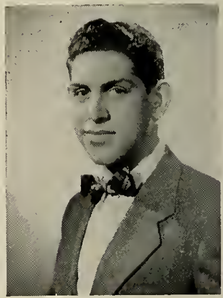
The News schedule begins Monday afternoon with assignments of stories to staffers by their editors — and ends Friday morning at about 2:00 a.m. when the paper is "put to bed" and the last bang proof has been proofread.

Monday night is makeup night for the publication. Sometimes Monday and Tuesday nights are needed — and sometimes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights find the "printers' devils" hard at work in the office on the third floor of the Center Building.

Press night — when the Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor travel to the Transcript Press in Dedham and put the finishing touches on the week's work — is Thursday, and usually lasts to the wee hours of Friday morning.

Then Friday morning and the current issue of the News dawns on Northeastern.

The graduating editors inaugurated two new issues of the publication with the special Freshman Issue, appearing the first week in September, and the Football Issue – the day before N.U.'s first grid game.



Jack Needle

The Freshman Issue, circulated to incoming frosh on the first day of orientation week, was loaded with facts and stories about the University of interest to the new students. The issue, successful in helping to organize a unified and active freshman class, will be a regular feature of the orientation program in the future.

The Football Issue, giving facts and figures about the Northeastern eleven, helped boost school spirit at the start of a very successful grid season. It will be a regular feature offered by the News to help launch the future athletic seasons.

CAULDRON

AT THE outset of the senior year, a group of students begin the long task of preparing the senior annual, the Cauldron. Numerous afternoons and long evenings are spent in planning. Seniors must be individually photographed, pictures of the administration, faculty, departments of the colleges, student activities and sporting events, plus a host of other elements that comprise college life at N.U. remain to be taken.

Reams of copy are turned out, edited, rewritten typed again, set and reset until the Cauldron staff becomes convinced that nothing short of a miracle will see a completed yearbook by commencement. Deadlines loom ominously and the work continues.

At last the day comes when the staff sits back and heaves a sigh of relief. The entire book is now in the hands of the publisher, but the work has just begun. There remains the task of proofreading until many an editor and staffer walks around with a set of bleary, saucer-shaped eyes.

The last term commences and the Cauldron staff anxiously awaits the final product. It is a happy day when the cartons of books arrive en-masse in the Cauldron office on the third floor of the Student Center Building. Editors, staffers and guests gather for the annual banquet and the reins are passed on to the junior staff who will become the seniors responsible for their own class' Cauldron.

SILVER MASQUE

Joan of Lorraine

Growth and expansion best characterize N.U.'s dramatic group, the Silver Masque. New talent augmented veterans and replaced graduates to open a successful season with The Philadelphia Story.

A turn to more serious drama characterized the performance of Joan of Lorraine. This proved to be a singular triumph to the acting abilities of the individual Masquers.

In the background the stage crew continued its efficient work, while another group artfully applied make-up to those who stepped before the footlights.

Spring saw the Masque and Choral Society combine to top last year's Finian's Rainbow with an enjoyable performance of another musical comedy, Allegro.

Working as a team, actors, director, production and make-up crews climaxed an outstanding year with the June production of Born Yesterday.

Student Council

Acting as the liaison body between the administration and the student body is Northeastern's Student Council. Membership consists of six seniors, four juniors, three middlers, two sophomores, the five class presidents and the Editor-in-Chief of the News. Both divisions hold joint meetings to discuss problems of common interest.

Student Union

Featuring a variety of services to students at N.U., the Student Union's outstanding project last year was a series of lectures on Courtship and Marriage which were heavily attended. Chapel services are organized by this group weekly plus special projects which include Christmas parties for underprivileged children and other community aid projects.

Class Cabinet

The Cabinet plans class activities, and acts as the liaison between the officers and members of the class.

Meetings are held each week to discuss arrangements for proms, collection of dues, and to decide on policies concerning the class. Joint meetings are held at least once a term to co-ordinate ideas.

This year the cabinet also served as the Senior Week Committee planning the Moonlight Cruise, the day at the Ocean House, the Class Picnic and the climax to Senior Week — the Senior Prom.

Omega Sigma Cabinet

Omega Sigma's purpose is to further the interests of Northeastern's women students, to foster friendship among the girls and to be of service to the University. The yearly activities include pre-freshman teas, coke parties, an installation of officers, a Christmas party for the children from local settlement houses, a Career Confab and a Mother-Daughter Tea. This year the first annual Omega Sigma dance was added to the large list of activities. Annual awards are given to junior and senior girls.

Engineers Council

The Engineers Council is a new organization at Northeastern. The Council's function is to coordinate the efforts of the many engineering honor and professional societies at Northeastern.

The Council plans to sponsor joint meetings of the organizations represented.

Cheerleaders

"Get hep!— Go!— H-U-S-K-Y— Rah, Rah, Rah . . ."

Cheers like this one are elicited by Northeastern's "Jumpin' Janes" of the cheerleader squad. The group can be seen in action at all football games and rallies.

Husky Key

The enthusiastic cheering from the stands at Northeastern athletic contests is from the Husky Key Society. The Key usually has a section of its own in the stands and that's where it all happens.

For school spirit this group is tops. The organization sponsors rallies, dances, record hops and publicizes all school activities. It is usually instrumental in bringing about an increased attendance at school functions.

Husky Highlighters

"These have been your Husky Highlighters bringing you news and views on campus activity." Thus ends another broadcast.

The Highlighters are a group of twelve students from each division. Their function is to see to it that the student body is informed on school activities.

Tuesday through Friday, the Highlighters go "on the air" with their informative programs which are piped into the Commons. The members write the scripts for each program.

International Relations Club

Political issues concerned with current international relations forms the agenda of the IRC. Guest speakers are featured at weekly meetings plus forums and debates. The N.U. chapter sends delegates to inter-collegiate conferences and one of last year's highlights was the national convention in New York City. Affiliation is maintained with the American Association of International Relations Clubs.

Dance Band

A compact group of students completely separated from the large ROTC Band, is the Northeastern University Dance Band, which is composed of a handfull of six or seven members. This group is often hired for private functions off campus and also supplies the music for varied student activities' dances including fraternity socials. On campus concerts are given during the college year.

Chess Club

Students can be seen frequently wandering into a room on the third floor of Richards Hall with a box of little figures and a square board tucked under their arms. These are the Chess enthusiasts at Northeastern. Newcomers are taught the fundamentals of the game and the veteran chess players participate in the annual inter-collegiate Chess Tournament.

First row: Donovan, Prof. Coolidge (adviser), Johnson (pres.). Second row: Petrakis, Poulin, Pappas, Damon. Third row: Keblinskas, Materas, Cummings.

Camera Club

Students who wish to learn the fundamentals of photography are provided with an opportunity through the Camera Club. Equipped with a complete darkroom, sessions for beginners are held at the opening of activities for the year.

University co-eds are found willing to cooperate with the lens-clickers in experimental sessions on lighting and exposing. These sessions are held both on campus and out on the nearby Fenway.

During the year various field trips are sponsored by the group and it has contributed its share of photographers to both the News and Cauldron. Camera Club photographers have also taken actual performance shots of Silver Masque productions.

Biology Club

Members of the Biology Club are provided with a program of activities beyond their regular classroom studies. During the year guest speakers appear at the weekly meetings and several field trips are usually sponsored. An annual Biology Award is made for outstanding work in research.

First row: Glebus (treas.), Ellis (v.p.), Mrs. Tisch (adviser), Sanda, Heald (v.p.). Second row: Webb, Hart, Cobbs, Dickson, Howard, Damelin.

Square Dance Club

"Honor your partners and corners all". The Northeastern Square and Folk Dance Society is in rehearsal and the Student Center Building rocks.

The "Squares", in original costumes, constitute the most colorful activities group on campus.

Their repertoire of dances includes folk dances of France, Germany, England, Ireland and the Slavic countries.

The group is on continual demand for University functions, and is featured at Freshman Night and the University Open House.

First row: Tingle, Dougherty (v.p.), Sanda (sec.), Prof. Khiralla (adviser). Second row: Connelly (pres.), Walsh, Spellman (pres.).

Debating Club

Words are its business and it puts them to good use.

The Northeastern Debating Society holds a trophy won at the inter-collegiate debating tournament held at American International College, Springfield.

Along with regular debates its programs include forums, panels, round table and conference discussions.

At its weekly meetings, the group discusses topics of local, national and international interest.

Radio Club

"Testing 1-2-3-4. This is WIKBN . . . Over!"

Up in the clouds of the penthouse on top of Richards Hall, Northeastern's Radio Club sends its radio waves to far off places. Members of the club maintain contact with amateur operators in the United States and Europe.

The Radio Club is one of the most popular exhibition groups at Northeastern's Open House. For the past two years, the group has set up stations in the lobbies of Richards Hall and the Library Building. Guests of the University were invited to send messages to anyone anywhere in the United States.

Art Club

"The background detracts from the subject." Or "The perspective is not accurate."

You will hear comments such as these every Tuesday if you walk by 358R. The speaker is Professor George H. Meserve; the occasion is a meeting of the Art Club.

Northeastern's most aesthetic group is also one of its youngest organizations. The Art Clubbers have been dabbling on canvas for only three years.

First row: Brooks (pres.), Krey, Lynch, Martin. Second row: Needle, Prof. Meserve (adviser), Mattson.

The Chorus

One of the busiest groups on campus is the N.U. Choral Society.

Under the direction of Professor M. Tucker Keiser, the Chorus gives a concert each term of the school year, performs at University functions, and gives an annual Christmas Concert on Boston Common. In June, the Choristers are featured at Boston Symphony Hall at the Northeastern Night Pops Concert.

The combined efforts of the Choral Society and the Silver Masque have recently produced Finian's Rainbow and Allegro.

Chapel Choir

Students of all faiths participate in the choir of the non-sectarian weekly chapel services at Northeastern.

Under the direction of Professor Lawrence F. Cleveland, organist, the choir prepares the anthems and choral responses for the services.

Since the completion of the Student Center Building in 1948, the Bacon Memorial Chapel on the second floor has provided spiritual services for the student body, faculty and staff.

Dean Charles W. Havice presides over the services. Spiritual leaders of all religious faiths are heard in the chapel meetings.

Arrangements for chapel services are made by the Chapel Committee of the Student Union.

First row: Pereira, Mahler, Atamian, Young, Leave, Schwind, Aldrich. Second row: McDonald, Malmberg, Prof. Cleveland (director), Tisdale.

Spring and fall the ROTC band gives out with those popular concerts on the steps of the Student Center Building.

The BAND

EARLY fall weather usually finds the ROTC Band out on the nearby Fenway for its practice sessions. This group was transformed into a military unit as an outgrowth of the inaugrural of the ROTC program at the University.

From civilian clothes the band soon appeared in military-type garb as the Department of the Army supplies uniforms. They participate in regular ROTC regimental reviews and also take part in the military drill periods.

To be eligible for membership students must be enrolled in the ROTC program at the University. Two advisors direct the activities of the band including both a civilian faculty member and one from the ROTC instructional staff.

During the winter the band is forced to seek haven indoors. Twice weekly on Tuesdays and Thursdays the Student Center Building sways from the musical strains as the group rehearses.

In the course of the college year, the ROTC Band is a performer at various functions, notably sporting events. It plays an important role in furthering college spirit at football rallies and also makes its appearance at several games during the grid season.

Concerts are given on campus and the musical repertoire of the group includes songs from the member states of the United Nations. Should a visiting dignitary from a foreign nation be on hand, the band can demonstrate its courtesy by playing the respective national anthem.

The Band keeps the football fans happy with some fancy marching and gyrations.

First row: Carlson, Patterson, Kinch, Kelley. Second row: Sgt. Chatterton (adviser), Cole, Mineo, Ostrom, Capt. Clifford (adviser).

Rifle Club

In 1951 the Husky Rifle Team was reborn at N.U. Under the direction of an ROTC staff officer, membership is open to both ROTC and non-ROTC students.

Official recognition as a minor sport came in 1952 and members may now shoot for letters.

Postal matches with other colleges and universities are held periodically during the year.

The N.U. sharp-shooters will have their own practice range on campus with the completion of the new Physical Education Center.

Advertising Club

Speakers engaged in various phases of advertising and sales promotional work are only one of several features which the Northeastern Advertising Club provides for its members at weekly meetings. Films are shown and the group sponsors several field trips during the college year.

The local chapter is affiliated with the Junior Advertising Club of Boston as well as the National Association of Industrial Advertisers. A joint marketing and advertising banquet is held annually and through its program, the club provides members with an opportunity to become acquainted with actual mechanical problems involved in the advertising and sales-promotional fields.

S. A. M.

A basic understanding of the scientific principles involved in management is the aim of the Northeastern student chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management. Membership in the club helps to encourage and stimulate one's interest.

Speakers are drawn from the Boston area for weekly meetings, films are shown and student group discussions are sponsored. The society's objective is to aid students to increase their knowledge in general and more specific areas of management.

Accounting Society

Membership in the Accounting Society encompasses students who are majoring specifically in this area alone or other phases of business administration.

Programs are designed to familiarize the students with practical experience in the field and to co-ordinate this with academic training.

Meetings are held weekly and include guest speakers, various field trips and student group discussions.

American Marketing Association

A steadily growing organization at N.U. is the Northeastern chapter of the American Marketing Association. The activities of the group include films, student discussions and guest speakers.

N. U. C. E. S.

The Northeastern University Civil Engineering Society is a branch of the American and Boston Civil Engineering Society. This professional group at N.U. has received a number of awards in recognition of its activities.

A. S. M. E.

One of the largest organizations at Northeastern is the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The group features technical films and industry speakers.

Investment Society

The future men of Wall Street are trained at Northeastern's Investment Society.

The purpose of the Investment Society is to further the knowledge of the students in matters of finance.

A. C. S.

Chemistry majors and a good portion of chemical engineers comprise the membership of Northeastern's Affiliate Chapter of the American Chemical Society. This professional society provides a media for the exchange of technical data among students from some 300 schools. N.U.'s chapter is one of the oldest groups of its kind on campus.

A. I. E. E.-I. R. E.

Pooling their major interest, two groups make up the membership of the joint Chapters of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers. Films are shown at weekly meetings and several field trips are made during the year. Programs are geared to present practical problems beyond classroom studies.

A. I. I. E.

A Chapter News Letter is published weekly by the American Institute of Industrial Engineers to keep members informed on issues of interest to their professional field. This group also successfully sponsored the formation of a joint Engineers Council at the University to co-ordinate engineering activities.

A. I. Ch. E.

Programs of technical interest are sponsored at the weekly meetings of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. Many of its members are also in the ranks of the American Chemical Society. Information of professional interest to both societies is exchanged.

A Word on Fraternities . . .

The benefits of belonging to a fraternity are invaluable. On the social side, dances, parties, and smokers provide memories of the lighter side of college life which will remain longer than most of the formal education. The ties of friendship and brotherhood formed through membership in a fraternity are priceless.

At Northeastern the fraternities furnish the general activities program with a valuable nucleus of outstanding students who are constantly ready and willing to add greatly to college spirit.

The Interfraternity Council (above) is the governing body which co-ordinates all the fraternities at Northeastern. The council, composed of one member from each fraternity in each division, plans interfraternity sports programs, the IFC Dance, and the annual pre-Christmas party for the benefit of needy children at Boston City Hospital.

Of course, it is understood that all fraternity members are dignified, respectable men like those pictured above, not foolish, questionable characters like those below.

Those crazy, mixed-up fraternity boys . . .

AKS

Alph Kappa Sigma Fraternity is located in a spacious Southern style mansion at 29 Greenough Avenue, in Jamaica Plain. The house is run by the members themselves, with everyone having an equal vote. The members' decisions are enforced by a body of five elected officers.

Like all the fraternities at Northeastern, AKS is active in sports, with basketball and bowling as the most popular.

BGE

Beta Gamma Epsilon, which is the oldest fraternity at Northeastern, is housed within walking distance of the school. Excellent meals are prepared by the housemother-cook.

All members of BGE are Engineering students at Northeastern.

The highlights of the social year are the annual dinner and dance held at the end of the term in January. Saturday night there is a formal dance; Sunday, a catered dinner for members and alumni.

K Z P

Social and fraternal associations that allow bonds of everlasting friendship to develop are emphasized by Kappa Zeta Phi.

The big social event is a dance held each year to earn money for the Marvin Guttin Scholarship Award. This is presented to the most deserving undergraduate brother on the basis of scholarship, fraternity activities, school activities and general fraternalism.

G P K

Pledges from GPK were kept busy this year painting and redecorating the new house at 16 Greenough Street in Brookline.

Teams from GPK have competed actively in the interfraternity sports scheduled during the past year.

Good times are insured at GPK's dances and parties. The biggest social event of the year is the Quad-Frat Dance held in the spring.

N E Z

The social season of 1953-54 will be remembered as one of NEZ's best. Hell week, dances, parties, and ski trips were included in the busy schedule of activities.

Active in sports, NEZ's team won the fraternity softball trophy last season. The fraternity is associated closely with the Ski Club. Both the division A and B presidents of the Hus-Skiers are members of NEZ.

P G P

Phi Gamma Pi is proud of the active participation that its members take in the various clubs and organizations at Northeastern.

Although academic achievement is stressed, social get-togethers such as tennis, basketball, softball, golf, skiing, informal house dances and parties take place during the year. Last season, the interfraternity basketball trophy went to the team from PGP.

Home is now at 241 Kent Street, Brookline. Mrs. Wier, PGP's capable housemother, cheerfuly overseers her "family".

PBA

Since the Fraternity Scholastic Shield was first awarded in 1951, Phi Beta Alpha has had the distinction of earning it annually for the three years. The prize has not been won yet by any other fraternity.

The brothers of Phi Beta Alpha still adhere to the theory and practice of not restricting membership into the fraternity because of race, religion, or course of study. Prospective members are subject to one bone-shattering night of initiation prior to their acceptance into the fraternity.

SPA

At last realizing the dream of the fraternity, SPA has acquired a house at 410 South Huntington Avenue, Brookline. Sixteen members of the fraternity now reside there. Meetings, parties, and dances can be held at the house instead of at school as they were formerly.

Although SPA is not a national fraternity, the same high ideals and morals are the foundation of their organization. Brotherhood, good fellowship and a chance to participate in social activities are all a part of belonging to SPA.

SKP

Under the guidance of Professor Louis Cooperstein, Sigma Kappa Psi has maintained its trifold purpose: to establish, stimulate, and secure the bonds of brotherhood in its members. Essentially a commuters' fraternity, SKP offers a touch of campus life to students who live at home. Business meetings and smokers are held at Northeastern; dances and parties, at suburban halls

In 1945, the fraternity established the Richard M. Horwitz Scholarship Fund in memory of a brother killed in action during World War II. Every year a brother who is outstanding in initiative, leadership and scholarship receives this award.

Through its dynamic spirit SKP will continue to do its utmost in contributing to the growth of N.U.

ROTC

Northeastern's ROTC program advanced successfully under the able direction of Colonel Howard E. Price. With the opening of the last college year, Colonel Murray D. Harris succeeded Colonel Price as Commanding Officer, the latter having been reassigned to European duty.

New activities that grew out of the ROTC include drill and rifle teams, a civilian band turned military, student chapters of the Pershing Rifles, Armed Forces Communications Association, American Society of Military Engineers, and the newest unit, a Scabbard and Blade Society.

MORNING, afternoon and night, Northeastern's athletic teams went through their paces in both practice sessions and intercollegiate competition.

The 1953-54 athletic season turned out to be one of Northeastern's best in many years. Individual members of Northeastern teams reached heights that have never before been sealed. Wetzler, Watson, Shea, Ollen, Lapsley, Doherty and the Eason twins all performed magnificently, but most of all it was a team year.

First row: Kassabian (trainer), Toyias, Korey, Cuddy, Broughton, Sigmund, Captain Lapsley, Champagne, Murphy, Barisano, Watson, Broadbent, Newell (student manager), Kearney. Second row: Luciano (line coach), Walker (end coach), Buckley, Heffernan, Kirk, DeRosa, Maggio, Venna, Hajjar, Johnson, Valihura, Igo, Wilson, Medugno, Zabilski (head coach), Connelly (backfield coach). Third row: Thomas, Renzi, Stoddard, De Flaminis, Reavis, Shinkovich, Hourihan, Cragnole, McCabe, Barton, Bucalo, Mitchell, Filmore.

FOOTBALL

BY ROSS FEARON

FEATURING a fleet backfield led by "Century Sid" Watson, and a hard-charging, alert and aggressive line led by Captain Jack Lapsley, the 1953 Northeastern football team turned out one of the best seasons in the school's history.

Coach Joe Zabilski and his charges dropped a heart-breaker to Rhode Island in the opening game, 13-7, then swept to six straight victories. In a fitting climax to a triumphant year, Northeastern was voted the number one small college team in New England.

Overshadowed by the brilliant performance of Watson, the line provided the key to the successful season. In such standout performers as Captain Lapsley, Lou Korey, Fred Medugno, Gene Renzi, Jean Champagne and Bob Broadbent, N.U. had a great line. And using a modified platoon system, Coach Zabilski managed to keep two good lines in operation. Both lines provided an iron-clad defense and opened gaping holes on the offense. Out of a host of good linemen, Lapsley, Medugno and Renzi approached the fabulous.

However, the big man of the year was Sid Watson. Watson, a guard converted to fullback, was a triple-threat back for N.U., one of the best backs in the East and, on the season's performance, must be considered one of the all-time Northeastern greats. The least of Sid's fabulous feats is his setting of a new N.U. scoring record of 74 points. He amassed this total by tallying ten touchdowns and kicking fourteen extra points.

In all, Sid racked up a total of 768 yards rushing in seven games and had an average of 7.1 yards per carry. And to top it off, Watson did most of the punting and backed up the line in spectacular fashion. To put it mildly, Watson was sensational on defense.

Opening the season at Brookline against the highly favored Rams of Rhode Island, the Huskies surprised Rams and spectators alike in forcing the Rams to take home a meager 13-7 victory. In view of the fact that this was the first game in the area under the return to one-platoon rules, the stands were packed.

One play, Rhody's first running play, provided the winning edge for the Rams although N.U. made it close. Fratto on a keep-or-give finally gave and high-powered Pat Abruzzi took off for 45 yards and a tally. Rhody picked up another score in the third quarter with N.U. countering on the following kickoff with a 90 yard romp by Joe DeRosa. That was the scoring and the ball game although N.U. had a touchdown called back and muffed three other chances to score.

The Huskies bounced into the win column in their game with Renessalaer by a score of 34-0 at Brookline. Playing straight football and using the entire squad, the Red and Black pushed over an easy victory. Watson and Bucalo, running like twin bulldozers, moved for two touchdowns each. Watson collected both of his in the first quarter and Bucalo romped for his two in the second quarter. Joe DeRosa rounded out the scoring in the fourth quarter by making a sensational catch of a Barisano pass. Defensively, the Husky forward wall completely stifled the R.P.I. attack with Renzi, Lapsley and Medugno being the standout wreckers.

In the first away game of the season, the N.U. line played Rock of Gibraltar and stone-walled the A.I.C. attack as the Huskies won, 24-0. The Red and Black line was immense in this game as the Aces were held to three first downs, 23 yards gained on the ground and a total yardage of only 38 yards. Paced by the running of Watson and DeRosa, N.U. scored 8 plays after the kickoff with yeoman Angie Toyias romping over from the three. Midway through the second period, Watson paced a march down the field and then bulled over from the four. The third period was a battle of line play.

Early in the fourth quarter Barisano intercepted a pass on the N.U. 21 to start a new march. "Gaucho" Bill Gochis took the helm and guided the Huskies to a score. Gochis sneaked over from the two yard line to cap the move. Later in the quarter DeRosa intercepted a pass on the 45 to start a march that climaxed when Bucalo scored from the two.

In the game of the year for Northeastern, Brandeis was snowed under by a 48-6 score. The 48 points run up by the rampaging Huskies is the highest number of points ever scored in a single game by any N.U. team.

Played at Brandeis before a partisan Homecoming crowd, the Huskies struck quickly. Angie Toyias grabbed off a 28-yard Barisano pass to start the rout. Watson kicked the extra point and the Red and Black began their romp. Then, in the second quarter, a 15 yard toss from Barisano to Abe Hajjar made it 14-0. And a few moments later, DeRosa raced 7 yards into the end zone with a Barisano pass to make it 21-0 at half-time.

The second half got under way with Barisano triggering a 45 yard payoff pitch to Lou Korey. Shortly after this, Fred Stoddard banged through to block a Dee Tyson punt and, with N.U. supporters screaming "Whose Big Sid", Watson, scooping up the ball, thundered 35 yards to score. In the fourth quarter, with the score 34-0, Brandeis managed to piece together a staggering attack long enough to march 60 yards to a tally. But, N.U. came right back with Barisano pitching out to Watson and then taking a lateral to score his first touchdown of the season. Watson trundled six yards to paydirt in the closing moments to round out the scoring.

The line played a great game with Renzi, Lapsley and Medugno sparkling on defense. Medugno pulled the unusual by making four consecutive kickoff tackles. And the big man in backing up the line, as usual, was Sid Watson.

grounds, Northeastern plowed to a 19-0 win. With the Bates line putting up a tremendous defense, the game was scoreless until four minutes before the end of the half. However, starting from their own forty yard line, the Huskies scored in four plays with Watson covering the last 31 yards on a delightful ramble. The first half was highlighted by some smashing line play and the hard running of Bates backs Morton and Chumbook.

Early in the third quarter, Watson stormed 35 yards to the Bates 10 and DeRosa smacked over in four tries. In the fourth quarter, after recovering a Bates fumble, N.U. marched to the Bates 38. Here, Gochis fired a flat pass over the middle to Tom Hourihan on the 25 and DeRosa, taking a lateral, shot the distance for a score. That wrapped up the ball game although N.U. subs threatened again and were stopped on the inches line. The game was one of intense line play and Bates was finally worn down by superior Northeastern depth.

Although Sid Watson was able to gain only 98 yards, the first and only time he failed to break 100 yards a game, the Z-men took to the air for five touchdowns and a 41-14 win over the University of Massachusetts at Brookline. The Redmen from UMass began a thrilling first half by scoring on a recovered fumble followed by a Jacques-Chambers aerial. But, the Huskies bounced right back with

Shortly after, with N.U. getting a poor punt on the UMass 42, Barisano fired and Lou Korey made a fancy one-hand catch on the 20 and ran the rest of the way for a 14-7 lead. The remainder of the half was a rousing stomping party.

At the start of the second half, Champagne intercepted a pass on the UMass 25 and the Huskies were off again. Gochis, replacing Barisano who had broken his contact lenses, gunned a short pass to Toyias for a 21-7 lead. Midway through the third stanza, Gochis combined with Watson on a 47-yard scoring pass with big Sid romping 35 yards after taking the pass. With N.U. pressing for another touchdown in the fourth quarter, Don Johnson of UMass picked off a Gochis pass and barreled 100 yards along the sideline to score. The Huskies returned the score on a 71 yard march. Watson scored on a six yard sweep after setting the tally up on a 45 yard ramble with a pitchout. The final score for Northeastern came on a 54 yard pass play from Gochis to Hourihan. A short flip over the middle found the UMass aggregation with their pass defense showing, and Hourihan scampered down the center of the field to end the day's scoring and the ballgame.

In the final game of the season, Northeastern had a rough time with the mighty arm of Mike Semens and the University of Vermont, but won 33-18. N.U. led off the scoring when Toyias grabbed a 21 yard pass to put the Huskies in front, 7-0. Vermont countered quickly when Semens, from his own 29, hit Al McLam and the rangy end moved on down to the N.U. five. After some travail, Beck swept end for the score. The try for the extra point was blocked by Champagne who went three for three in this department for the day. Vermont moved to a first quarter lead, 12-7, when Semens hit Campana with a 52 yarder and then sneaked over from the one.

However, with the second quarter just getting under way, Watson slammed off tackle and barrelhoused his way 61 yards for a 14-12 lead, a lead that N.U. never lost. A little later, Toyias, Bucalo and Watson moved the ball 80 yards in 8 plays with Toyias going the last 26 yards to score. Campana then put the Catamounts back in business by rolling 46 yards on a punt return and hard-running Eddie Beck plowed over to make it 20-18. N.U. iced the game when Larry Wilson picked a 37 yard Barisano pass out of the hands of three defenders and fell into the end zone. And in the fourth period, Watson slammed three yards to cap an 81 yard drive and a 33-18 finale.

Watson and Champagne were magnificent on defense as Zabilski named Watson's work as his "outstanding line-backing job in three years." Renzi, Lapsley and Medugno also were shining stars on defense.

Post-season honors came high for Northeastern as two ballplayers and Coach Zabilski were singled out for honors. Sid Watson was named to the U.P. All-East Team and third string Little All-American. Coach Zabilski was voted the New England Coach of the year by the sportswriters. And, Captain Jack Lapsley was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers to become the first N.U. football player to be drafted by the National Football League.

HUS-SKIERS

By JACK SHEEHAN

TOPPED off by their annual Winter Carnival, the 1954 edition of the Hus-skiers enjoyed one of their most successful and active seasons to date. The skiers, this year, were not only able to boast of having their largest active student membership, but also of winning the Asa Osborn Trophy, symbolic of leadership in the New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference, for the first time since 1948.

The presidents, Dick Grinnell in Division A and Dave Kelley in Division B, were capably assisted by Vice-president Luke Lally, Treasurer Andy Whittle and Secretary Rickey Kontoff of Division A, and Vice-president Charles Miller, Treasurer Handley Freeman and Secretary Margaret Allen of Division B. Professor Perles served as the faculty advisor.

The weekly meetings were always jammed with ski enthusiasts who discussed past and future trips and viewed movies covering various phases of the winter sport.

Week-end ski trips took the Hus-skiers to such winter paradises as Mad River Glen, Franconia Notch, North Conway, Jackson and Bromley. There were plenty of black and blue marks, but these were completely overshadowed by an abundance of fun.

The Northeastern Ski Team, composed of elite members of the Hus-skiers, and coached by alumnus Jim Reed, recorded its most successful season in its short but active history. The skiers participated in three meets taking a first, second and third place.

CROSS-COUNTRY

By JOHN CONNELLY

CAPTAIN Dick Ollen produced the keynote for the season in the opening cross-country meet. He raced home first against Brown at Providence. Ollen's time was a record-breaking 19:53. And that's exactly what the year turned out to be, a record-breaking 1953.

The Harriers rolled through their six dual meets without a defeat and lost the New England championship by the narrow margin of one point to the University of Massachusetts. At the end of the season, Coach Jerry Tatton called the squad "the best team in Northeastern's history, not only on its record, but in quality."

The opener against Brown provided many memorable moments. In addition to Ollen's run for a new track record, the Huskies piled up a perfect score as Brown went down to a 15-40 defeat. Ed Shea romped home in second place, and this marked only the second time in his college career that he had been defeated in a dual meet. The Red and Black follow-up crew of Dave Ryan, George Campot and Charlie Lyons came home in that order to complete the sweep.

The going was a bit rougher in the second contest. Against the University of New Hampshire it was once again the one-two punch of Ollen and Shea that clinched the verdict. This time, however, the order was reversed with Shea in first place and Ollen in second. Ryan, running his usual strong race, came home in the fifth spot. Campot in seventh place and Mike Lycurgus in ninth position gave N.U. a slim 21-24 victory.

Next, the Huskies won an important meet with the University of Rhode Island. The Rhody win was perhaps the most important win of the season. The Rams were highly regarded as "the team to beat" in the pre-season figuring. Ollen and Shea again stirred up a storm as the Huskies rolled into high gear. The two ace Harriers for N.U. romped home in an unusual tie for first place. George Campot and Dave Ryan produced the necessary follow-up punch by garnering fourth and fifth place. And little Mike Lycurgus again applied the clincher by finishing seventh to give N.U. a 19-36 victory.

Shea showed the way as the Red and Black moved to their fourth straight win by beating the University of Connecticut, 20-39. "Easy Ed" Shea blazed home in front of the field with Captain Ollen hot on his heels in second spot. Dave Ryan finished fourth with Campot and Lycurgus coming in fifth and sixth to give the Huskies a near sweep.

Against Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Shea again boomed home in first place with Ollen close behind him as Northeastern copped the meet, 15-46. The Huskies ran the Engineers into the ground as the Harriers ran up their second sweep of the season.

at the finish line for Ryan, Campot and Lycurgus and all five men marched across the line together for a 15-50 win.

The individual highlight of the year came when Ed Shea came home in front of a 104 man, 16 team field to win the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country Championship. In a ding-dong, uphill and down dale battle, Shea stomped out a fifty yard victory over Johnny Kelley of Boston University. However, the Tatton-men were edged out of the New England crown by the University of Massachusetts by a slim one point margin, 82-83.

Ollen, in one of the most dramatic finishes of this or any other season, stumbled home in tenth place. Running while being ill, Ollen ran the last half of the race on nerve and determination alone, and almost fell across the finish line. Even though extremely ill, Ollen managed to post the time of 21:47 against Shea's winning time of 20:42.

Dave Ryan placed fifteenth while George Campot came in twenty-fifth. Mike Lycurgus rounded out the Husky scoring by coming home thirty-seventh.

The 1953 race was considered by many to be one of the greatest races in the history of the meet.

Much credit for the winning season goes to Coach Jerry Tatton, one of the shrewdest coaches in New England, a great competitor and, certainly, a great Coach. Coach Tatton always had his Harriers in shape and primed for each meet as it came along.

An outstanding accomplishment by the Huskies was their stronghold in the win and place brackets in the season's meets. In Dick Ollen and Ed Shea the Harriers had two of New England's best runners, and two of Northeastern's greatest athletes. It will be many a moon before N.U. sees men of their caliber both in and out of uniform.

BASKETBALL

RECORDING an impressive 11-8 record, the 1953-1954 Northeastern basketball team came within the proverbial eyelash of turning in one of the best years in the school's history. As it was, the Husky courtmen had one of their better years.

In what proved to be a banner year for records, Coach Zabilski's quintet ran up four new records. Paced by the sharp-shooting of Wetzler and Ayres, the cagers hit a new season high scoring record of 1,436 points. And the team also established a new scoring record for a single game when they tossed in 100 points against Maine. Individually Joe Wetzler put two new records on the books. The first came when Joe hit a new single game high against Boston University as he netted 34 points. And he fired in 368 points on the year to break Geno Neri's 1952 record of 324 points in a season.

Opening the season against the Redmen from UMass on N.U.'s court, the Huskies got off to a fast start with a 75-63 victory. Wetzler and Ayres both hit for 21 points as the N.U. contingent led all the way.

Playing their next two games on the road, the Red and Black cagers dropped both games by wide margins. Brown, aided by some spectacular free throw shooting, 34 out of 41, dropped the Huskies by a 73-62 score. And, Boston College got on the band wagon as N.U. came back to Boston, and beat the Red and Black soundly, 78-58.

Brandeis and dropped the Terriers, 77-73. Wetzler hit for his record 34 points in this game as the Huskies won a close one.

Coming back from their Christmas layoff, the N.U. quintet entertained the Maine team at home. Led by Captain Jimmy Burkard's 28 points, the Huskies posted another record with a 100-87 win.

Journeying across the river, the Huskies ran into trouble with John Harvard and lost a 75-63 affair.

However, a swing back home found the cagers victorious over a faltering B.U. team, 86-79. The Red and Black courtmen met M.I.T. at Johnson Memorial Gymnaisum and pulled out a slow game, 68-59.

Journeying down to Kingston, Rhode Island, N.U. ran into a good Rhode Island team and lost a close game 78-75. Wetzler led the N.U. men with 21 points while Ayres and O'Rourke had 17 each. Defeat stayed with the Northeastern club as they lost to Brandeis, 93-81; Joe Wetzler hit for 24 points.

Returning home, the Huskies broke a two-year jinx against Tufts and dropped the Jumbos, 87-83, in an overtime period. Ayres tied the score on a foul shot with only five seconds remaining in regulation time. The Huskies went on to win as Ayres led the scorers with 25 points.

Remaining at home, Northeastern walloped the boys from the Coast Guard Academy by an 87-70 margin with Wetzler getting 23 and O'Rourke hooping 20. And in their third straight win, the Husky aggregation dumped Clark 75-64. Doug Dalrymple and Ed Ayres netted 18 points each.

A trip to Amherst set the Red and Black back as they dropped a 75-64 decision. Wetzler continued his hot scoring pace as he got 25 points. But, meeting New Hampshire on the home court, the Z-men posted an 82-80 win in a real thriller. Joe Wetzler came through with 23 points as Ayres and Dalrymple hit for 16. The Huskies overcame a 19 point half-time deficit to nip the Wildcats in the closing seconds.

Continuing at home, N.U. dropped Bates, 81-68, with Wetzler breaking Neri's old scoring record in this game. Joe hit for 27 points, and it was his first basket of the second half that set him on his way to a new record.

Meeting W.P.I. at Johnson Memorial Gym, the Northeastern crew won a hard-fought victory, 69-66. Wetzler scored 24 points while Doug Dalrymple netted 17. Dalrymple scored three quick baskets late in the fourth period to help clinch the decision.

Then, with a new season victory record in sight, the Huskies faltered and dropped their last two games. A safari to Bates proved unsuccessful as the Bobcats notched a 71-64 win. Wetzler was hurt midway through the game when he was struck in the eye. He did not return for the remainder of the season. Ayres topped the scorers with 17 points while Wetzler had 15 when he was injured.

A swing to A.I.C. found the N.U. quintet on the short end of a 87-80 score. O'Rourke really came into his own in this game as he hit for 25 points. Doug Dalrymple continued his stellar work as he hit for 21 points against the Aces. And, Captain Jimmy Burkard netted 17.

The work of Captain Burkard, who was the big set-up man for the Huskies, and the shooting of Ayres, Dalrymple and O'Rourke gave able support to the fabulous shooting of Joe Wetzler.

In fact, the first five men for the N.U. quintet all averaged in the double figures on the season's average. Wetzler was way out in front with an average of 20.1, Ayres had 13.8, Dalrymple 11.4, Burkard 11.6 and O'Rourke 10.2

It would appear from here that Northeastern, in the future, must be considered as a potential power in New England small college circles.

HOCKEY

By F. MARSHALL STACK

INABILITY of the Husky pucksters to provide a concerted attack during the 1953-54 season caused the Northeastern hockey team to have one of its poorest seasons while under the tutelage of Coach Herb Gallagher. The ice squad picked up five wins while dropping 12 games and tying one.

In the opener, Yale beat the Huskies, 3-2, in overtime. Goaler Don Whynot, following in the footsteps of his predecessor, All-American Ray Picard, kicked out over fifty shots. The Huskies went ahead twice on goals by Fred Voderer and Jack Gilbody, but Yale also tallied twice and the regular playing time ended in a 2-2 tie.

The second game of the season saw a powerful B.C. team shut out the icemen, 6-0. N.U. was unable to get an attack going and penalties hurt the defense.

The Red and Black skaters then journeyed to Providence to meet the Bruins from Brown. But, the Huskies suffered a 7-2 defeat to continue their losing streak.

Dartmouth added insult to injury by whitewashing the Gallagher-men, 7-0, at Hanover. As in the Yale game, Whynot made over fifty saves while most of the game was played inside the Northeastern blue line.

The Husky six finally snapped their losing streak by defeating M.I.T., 4-3, at the Boston Garden. Captain-elect of the 1954 football team, Sid Watson, drove home the winning goal early in the third stanza to climax a long uphill fight. All the Engineering scoring was accomplished when the Huskies were short-handed.

Gilbody scores against M.I.T.

Harvard then took the Huskies to town, 6-2. The G-men held a short-lived lead on a goal by Captain Bill Doherty in the first period. But, 27 seconds later Harvard tied the match and was never in danger from there on.

A brace of goals by Roy Kelley helped the Huskies garner their second win of the season, 5-1, against Tufts. Going into the third period with the score, 2-1, the Red and Black skaters scored three fast goals to ice the game.

Continuing their winning ways, the NU'ers battled to a 5-4 overtime victory over a fighting Providence College team on Dec. 22 to give their loyal fans a Christmas present of sorts. Captain Billy Doherty scored the winning goal.

Seeking to continue their winning ways, the N.U. crew traveled to Troy, N. Y., to meet the red hot Engineers of Rensallaer. R.P.I. stopped the Huskies cold, 7-1.

Playing in the annual Beanpot Tourney, the Huskies were stopped in the opening round by the power-laden Boston College Eagles. The Huskies outplayed the Eagles for two periods, and then, the boys from the Heights, who went on to win the tourney, blasted home two quick goals to open the third stanza and clinch the contest.

In the consolation round, the next night, the Northeastern team was upset by a rapidly improving Boston University sextet, 5-3. The Huskies nipped at the Terrier's heels throughout the game, but two fast goals in the third period clinched it for B.U.

Playing its third game in four nights, a weary N.U. six fell before a hustling Brown aggregation, 10-3, at the North Shore Sports Arena.

Northeastern suffered its fifth straight loss when the pucksters bowed to a superior Dartmouth team, 8-5. Paced by four goals off the stick of Dan McCarthy, the Indians outplayed the Huskies all the way. N.U. tied the score at four-all in the second period, but McCarthy netted what proved to be the winning goal and the Indians were never headed from then on. Captain Bill Doherty turned in the hat trick for N.U.

A 7-2 loss to Harvard extended the Husky losing streak to six straight games. And, in a rapidly arranged game with Tufts, Northeastern was held to a 3-3 tie.

Playing their best hockey of the season, the icemen trounced B.U., 11-5, in their next game. Jack Gilbody and Clyde DeWolfe both turned the hat trick for Northeastern.

N.U. then dropped their third game of the season to Boston College, 6-2, in the only game the Huskies played at the now State-owned Boston Arena. The icemen only got off five shots on the B.C. goal in a weak attack.

In the last game of the season, the Red and Black rallied to pull out an overtime 4-3 win against B.U. Sid Watson banged home the winning goal at 1:50 of the overtime to give the G-men a hard-earned victory. DeWolfe, Doherty and Kelley also scored for N.U.

Although the season was not too successful, the Huskies can look forward to next season after a building year.

BASEBALL

By DICK ALLEN

PLAYING one of the heaviest schedules in many years, Northeastern's 1953 baseball team finished its campaign with a record of seven wins and ten losses. The Huskies played half of their twenty game schedule away and eight of them with the local teams who comprise the newly formed Greater Boston College League.

Coach Herb Gallagher's nine got away to a fast start by defeating Boston University, Harvard and Clark before dropping a game to a strong Rhode Island team.

Veteran Don Eason pitched his way to victory in the first two games winning both by the score of 2-1. Fans were calling the G-men "the hitless wonders" as they forged to the league lead with only six hits.

The Red and Black batsmen broke out of their batting slump in the Clark game by pounding the Clark hurlers in an 11-1 rout.

Outfielder Dave Nelson and catcher Ron Eason collected a total of five hits as the Huskies dropped a free-swinging game to Rhody, 8-5.

In their next encounter, the N.U. nine edged Bates, 3-2, with Don Eason throwing a five hitter. A three run seventh inning tossed the game to the Huskies as Angie Toyias stole home with the winning run. The Bobcats had held a 2-0 lead going into the inning. Don Tierney and Captain Andy Allan contributed singles in the big inning.

14 hits, but dropped the game, 11-9. The Mules, also lashing out 14 hits, collected single runs in the eighth and ninth innings to break a 9-9 deadlock. The loss was the first at home for the G-men.

Kicking the ball around for nine errors, the N.U. team dropped a 5-3 decision to B.U. The Red and Black diamond men were blanked until the ninth inning when they rallied for three runs.

In dropping their third straight decision, the Huskies were blanked by Tufts, 8-0. Jumbo pitcher, Fred Gerulskis, held the Huskies to three hits as N.U. was held scoreless for the first and only time of the year.

Northeastern got back on the win trail by pounding out a 10-2 win over Brandeis. Don Eason picked up the win as the Huskies belted three Waltham hurlers for eleven hits. Dick Cox drove in five runs as Angie Toyias hit the first round-tripper of the year.

Loose fielding cost the Huskies another game as they dropped a 9-5 decision to M.I.T. N.U. held a 4-2 lead when the Engineers scored seven runs in the fourth inning without hitting the ball out of the infield.

Northeastern then journeyed to Durham, N. H., spotted the University of New Hampshire four runs in the first inning, and came back to win, 10-7. With the score tied at 5-5 in the sixth inning, the Red and Black blew the game open by racking up five more runs. Don Eason collected the win, giving up five bases on balls while striking out twelve of the Wildcats.

The N.U. nine then moved to Amherst to tangle with the University of Massachusetts. The Redmen tallied three times in the first inning and went on to take a 4-2 victory.

N.U. next entertained the U.S. Navy in an exhibition game with a team from the carrier Mindinao. The Navy was sunk in short order, 8-0.

Boston College pushed over two runs in the ninth inning to slide by the Huskies, 5-4, in their next encounter. N.U. collected 11 hits, outhitting the Eagles by a wide margin, but also committed five errors to hand the game to B.C. as Eason only allowed four hits.

In their last league game of the season, the Huskies again played fumble-fingered and committed seven errors to give B.C. a 12-4 win. The Eagles picked up their fifth straight game and the league championship in this tilt.

Closing out the season against A.I.C., the G-men lost a 5-3 close one. The Huskies had a tie ball game going in the sixth inning, 3-3. But, A.I.C. picked up a run here and another in the seventh to cop the victory.

Despite their disappointing team showing, the Huskies were outstanding individually. Four Northeastern men were named to the Greater Boston College All-Star Team, one more than Champion Boston College. The pitcher and catcher team of Don and Ron Eason made the grade along with Fran Pineau and Angie Toyias.

Ron Eason and Dick Cox led the Husky batsmen in league hitting with .375 and .364 averages respectively. Don Eason picked up 3 wins and 2 losses in league competition. He also fanned 38 men to lead the league in this department. Overall, Eason had a 6-2 record for the year.

Those graduating from the 1953 baseball team are Everett Arnold, Allen Conlon, Richard Cox, Donald Daley, Michael DeCristoforo, William Lillydale and Francis Pineau.

NORTHEASTERN'S 1954 indoor track team had as its high spot the magnificent performances of Captain Dick Ollen and Easy Ed Shea in the IC4A Meet on January 9th at Madison Square Garden.

Captain Ollen whipped to victory in the mile run while Ed Shea pounded home in front of the field in the two-mile affair.

In the dual meets department, the Huskies posted a 2-3 record despite the individual efforts of Ollen and Shea. These two managed to pick up at least two first place finishes in every meet.

Captain Dick Ollen

Over the course of the season, Ollen compiled an individual record of nine first place finishes, two seconds and a third. Ed Shea, the other half of the distance duo, ran up a card of seven firsts, four seconds, one third and one fourth place finish.

Three of Captain Ollen's first place races established new records. In the 1000 yard run, on January 23 at Bates, he posted a time of 2:19.3 to set a Bates Field House record. Against M.I.T. on February 20, he ran a 4:17.4 mile for a new N.U. record. In his last meet for N.U., Dick established a new record for the 1000 yards when he ran the distance against Maine in 2:17.4.

In the season's opener against Tufts on January 9, the Tatton-men dropped a 69½-38½ decision. The pattern for the year was set in the meet when the Huskies dominated the distance runs, but lost out in the other events. The Jumbos ran up eight firsts, sweeping the dashes and the broad jump.

Shea and Ollen were the Husky standouts in the meet. Shea captured a first in the mile, placed second in the two-mile and third in the 1000. Captain Ollen ran first in the 1000 and second in the mile.

On January 16, Coach Tatton took his finest to the Knights of Columbus Track Meet held at the Boston Garden. Once again it was Ed Shea and Dick Ollen who were instrumental in N.U.'s scoring. Ollen finished third in the Farrell Memorial 500, and Heading for home.

Shea finished fourth in the Larivee two-mile run. The relay team of Bill Nelson, Bob Hefford, George Campot and Dick Ollen picked up a third in the one-mile relay race.

The most exciting meet of the year came on January 23 in Lewiston, Maine, as the Huskies faced Bates. Ollen broke a 20 year old Bates Field House record in the 1000 to give N.U. a 54-53 lead. The last run was the 300 and Bob Hefford brought the victory home by beating Bates' Doug Fay 34.9 to 35 seconds. The final tally read Northeastern 59, Bates 57. Ollen took first in the mile along with his win in the 1000. Shea took a first in the two-mile and ran second in the mile.

The only bright spot in the B.A.A. Games at the Boston Garden on January 30 was Ollen's second place photo finish in the Bingham 880. The Relay team finished second in the mile relay.

Coach Tatton's charges hit the victory trail again for the last time against Boston College on February 6. Pat Lochiatto of B.C. was the star of the meet with 21 points, but the Husky duo of Shea and Ollen offset his performance. Ollen and Shea tied for first in the mile and finished one-two in the 1000 as N.U. took the meet, 59-49.

On February 20, against M.I.T., the tracksters were beaten 67-41. Ollen kicked in with a record-breaking mile while Shea won the two-mile event.

February 27 and the IC4A Championships in New York was the big moment of the year. Northeastern hadn't had a winner in this event since Mike Prohodsky won in 1941. Ollen turned in a fine race winning the mile in 4.20.1. Ed Shea ran a masterful race and came home with a 9.24.5 win in the two-mile event.

The last meet of the season, held at Orono, Maine, found the Huskies on the short end of an 86½-39½ score in a meet with the University of Maine. As usual, it was the work of Captain Ollen and Shea that garnered Husky points. Ollen won the 1000, Shea won the two-mile, and they both tied in the mile.

As a postscript to an individually sensational year, Dick Ollen blazed a new Northeastern record at the South Weymouth Invitational Meet. Paced by the famed Josey Barthel, Ollen raced the mile course in 4: 16.8. Barthel, Olympic champion from Luxemburg, lead most of the way. But, Ollen came with a rush at the finish to hand Josey his first defeat by an American and his first loss in more than two years.

The work of Shea and Ollen throughout the year will go down in Husky history as some of the greatest running ever seen on this campus.

The graduating seniors are David Aikens, Donald Barbera, Otto Kalmes, Robert Cannon, William Connell, Luther Fulton, Robert Cline, James Linehan, and Charles Johnson.

Dave Ryan finishes.

THE RECORD YEAR

By JACK NEEDLE

DURING the college career of the class of 1954, Northeastern struck gold athletically during 1951-52, N.U.'s Golden Year in sports. Now the University is enjoying another propitious annum — The Record Year. More records were set in more sports this year than in any other year.

Coach Joe Zabilski and Captain Jack Lapsley led the football squad through their schedule to a 6-1 record and the area's small college diadem.

As for the marks that were broken, Fullback Sid Watson scored 74 points for an individual high. And, in seven games he amassed a total of 769 yards in 108 attempts for a 7.1 average. Only in one contest, where he had 98 yards, did Watson miss the 100 yard figure.

Rated sixth nationally in offense and defense, the team set such records as most points in a season, 206, most points in a game, 48 (against Brandeis); total yards gained, 2,694; total yards rushing, 1,758; and the most first downs, 118. The opposition scored only 52 points, made 52 first downs, and gained only 543 yards.

Northeastern was accorded an honor when they were selected, after their fourth straight win and for the remainder of the season, as the top small college contingent in New England. And, Coach Joe Zabilski was named the Coach of the Year in New England.

Meanwhile, Captain Dick Ollen and Ed Shea led the cross-country team to an undefeated season. In the first meet of the season, Ollen lowered the Brown University course record to 19:53. Between Shea and Ollen, the Huskies never lost a first or second place, setting another record.

After the season, Ed Shea set a new Franklin Park course record in 20:42.2 as he outdistanced Johnny Kelley of B.U. for the New England Cross Country Championship. The Huskies were edged, 82-83, by UMass for the team championship.

All told, it turned out to be the University's best fall season with but a single loss in 13 varsity contests.

As the snowflakes fell, so did the basketball records. Again an individual dominated the scene. Center Joe Wetzler scored 368 points to break Geno Neri's 1952 record of 324, and missed the last game as he had an eye injury. Against B.U., the lanky pivotman scored 34 points to set a new single game high, and his 22 in the first half was another record. Joe averaged 20.1 a game for still another record.

Captain Jimmy Burkard's quintet was the first N.U. team on which the starting five all boasted double figure averages for the year: Wetzler 20.1, Ayres 13.9, Burkard 11.5, Dalrymple 11.4 and O'Rourke 10.1.

The courtmen smashed the season high total record with 1,436 points and scored 100 in a game with Maine to set another record. Their 11-8 record was one victory shy of the most-wins mark.

Shea and Ollen continued setting new marks after switching to the indoor track squad. Shea set a Husky two-mile mark in winning the IC4A run in 9:24.5. Ollen won the mile that night to mark the first time that N.U. copped two IC4A events.

At M.I.T. Ollen set a new mile mark with a 4:17.4 timing. At Maine he notched a Husky 1000 record in 2.17.4; at Providence the NEAAU mark for the 1000 was lowered to 2.22 in his wake; and he whizzed to a Bates cage record in 2:19.3 for 1000.

With southpaw Don Eason around for pitching chores, and Shea and Ollen around for a final fling, the spring seasons look mighty encouraging. Perhaps a few more additions will be added to the Record Year.

THE 24th hour — the culmination and reward for five tedious and wonderful years of MTA, quizzes, homework, classes, the Commons, co-op, and exams. The dividing line between Seniors and Alumni is short and soon fades.

Remembering the past brings back a variety of sentiments. Time went by so fast — or it didn't go fast enough. Where did I ever get the courage . . . and the money? How did I pass everything? Remember . . . the Crowded Commons . . . Great profs. . . . Dodging cars on Huntington Avenue . . . football games . . . and Senior Week.

But, as we leave the University to enter our careers and go our separate ways, we take with us that special blend of atmosphere that marks us as Northeastern Graduates.

THE TOOL THAT SHAPES TOMORROW

What is the greatest achievement of modern man? To annihilate distance . . . to split the atom . . . to harness nature to do his bidding?

These are only the spectacular end results — man's basic achievement is that he has learned to use his mind in a new way . . . to implement and guide his thinking by rigorous, disinterested scientific method. Through three centuries he has fashioned and whetted the tool of scientific method until it is sharp enough to hew out a better world for tomorrow.

Using this tool, Raytheon scientists are laying open the unknown areas of electronics, revealing new applications for national defense and better living.
